Appeals to the Student Appeals Committee

Most (but not all) internal appeals under University Legislation are heard by Committees or the Academic Board. The role of Academic Board is to provide:

- a. academic oversight of prescribed courses and units of study of higher education in the University; and

b. advice to the Council on the conduct and content of those courses and units.

The Committees most likely to hear an internal appeal are:

- the Student Appeals Committee;
- the Animal Ethics Committee; or
- the Human Research Committee.

An Appeal lodged with the Executive Officer of the Student Appeals Committee will need to satisfy one or more of the following grounds:

- that there was relevant evidence which:
 - was available to the decision-maker at the time the decision was made but was not taken into account by the decision-maker;
 - was not known by the applicant before the decision was made and could not reasonably have been known by the applicant before the decision was made;
- that there was an irregularity of procedure which may have affected the decision;
- that the decision was manifestly wrong;
- that a procedural irregularity occurred which may have affected the decision;
- that the penalty imposed was manifestly excessive; or
- that there was a deemed refusal.

If a Student is advised that they have a right of Internal Appeal under Legislation, it is the responsibility of the Student to consult the relevant Legislation, procedure or policy to determine the requirements for an Appeal, including their obligation to provide any Committee or member of Staff with relevant evidence or information. The University reserves the right to refuse an Internal Appeal if the Student has not met their obligations under the relevant Legislation or policy.

The Chair of the Student Appeals Committee has the discretion to choose one of two types of hearing:

- a. a desktop review of the written case and applicable supporting evidence; or
- b. a formal hearing by a panel constituted from members of the Student Appeals Committee

The Chair of the Student Appeals Committee has the discretion to extend the period for lodgment of an Appeal, if the Student can demonstrate exceptional circumstances.

All Appeals will be guided by the principles of Natural Justice.

General principles and guidance

Obligations of all parties

Students wishing to lodge an Appeal must act reasonably, in accordance with their responsibilities under all relevant legislation and policies, and in Good Faith. All parties involved in an Appeal are expected to demonstrate respect for the rights of others at all stages of the Appeal process.

The University reserves the right to take formal action against any Party who lodges an Appeal based on false or malicious grounds.

All parties to the Appeal process are reminded that any untrue material raised about a person during the Appeal process that lowers that person's reputation in the community may be subject to external claims for defamation.

A University decision that results in suspension or exclusion of the Student will generally require the Student to lodge an Appeal (if a right of Appeal exists) within thirty (30) working days of the Student receiving notice of the original decision.

Lodging an external appeal

If the Student lodging an External Appeal is an International Student, the Student must lodge the Appeal within the timeframe stated in the Final Decision and promptly notify International Student Compliance of the Appeal] to ensure compliance with the University's reporting obligations to the Department of Home Affairs \(DHA\). The unique identifying number of the External Appeal will be required for verification purposes.

If the Student lodging an External Appeal is a Domestic Student, the Student must lodge the Appeal within the timeframe stated in the Final Decision and promptly notify the Academic Division, Appeals Committee and Student Administration of the Appeal. The unique identifying number of the External Appeal will be required for verification purposes.

Seeking guidance

Staff and Students may seek guidance on the Appeal process under a policy or procedure from the Staff member(s) identified in that policy or procedure as having responsibility for guidance, or from Student Advocacy.

Guidance on the Appeal process within Legislation can be provided by the Executive Officers to Appeals Committee, or from Student Advocacy.

Guidance on a Student's right to External Appeal can be found on the University's Legal Office website, or from Student Advocacy.

Obligations of the University

Students at all levels of the Internal Appeal process will receive written information detailing how the outcome of the process will be communicated. This information will be provided either before or during the Appeal hearing. The Student's current address and email address will also be confirmed at the hearing.

The outcome of the Appeal will be sent to the Student's University email account via preferred email address provided on the Student's appeal form, or to the Student's current postal address via Australia Post's regular, express or registered mail services, consistent with the appeal notice.

Unless otherwise agreed between the student and the University, if an Appeal relating to the Student Misconduct Committee is received by the University within 30 days of the conclusion of a Teaching Period Students may request to suspend timelines dictated by this procedure where they fall outside the teaching period.

If a decision is made that adversely affects the Student and a right of Internal Appeal exists, the Student will be informed of the right to Appeal and the requirements of the relevant Appeal procedure.

External Appeal and additional legal remedies

If the decision is a Final Decision or there is no right of Internal Appeal, the University will provide written notice of the Student's right to External Appeal, for example to the Victorian Ombudsman.

If the Internal Appeal or External Appeal process results in a decision in favour of the Student, the Student will be notified and any corrective and/or preventative action required will be implemented immediately, as directed by the Chair of the Committee or person making the decision.

If a Student has lodged an External Appeal, the Student's enrolment will be maintained for the duration of the Appeal process unless maintaining enrolment would constitute a risk to health and safety, or the Student has previously lodged an External Appeal in relation to the same matter and been unsuccessful.

The University acknowledges that in some cases a Student may choose to exercise their rights under external legal processes. If a Student commences external legal action, any action contemplated or in progress under University policies or Procedures may cease, and may not resume unless and until the matter is referred back to the University by an external authority.
